The map displays a rural landscape with several settlements and geographical features. In the upper left, Leclercville is shown with a grid of roads labeled from 1 to 15 and letters A through H. To its right is Val-Alain, which includes the town center and surrounding areas like Lac Georges, Ruisseau Grégoire, and Calvette à la Vache. Further east is Saint-Janvier-de-Joly, featuring the Rivière du Chêne and the Lac Joly. The map also shows Laurierville, Notre-Dame-de-Lourdes, Lyster, and Villeroy. A major north-south road, Autoroute Jean Lesage, runs through the center of the map, intersected by Route 104. Various local roads are marked with red lines, including Rue Principale, Rue Gagné, Rue du Village, and Rue de l'Eglise. Rivers like the Rivière du Chêne, Rivière aux Chevreuils, and Rivière aux Frênes are depicted as blue lines winding through the terrain.
